1. Context of national youth policy

In the first part of 2009, the National Strategy for the period 2009-2013 was the subject of consultations, further elaborated and approved with and by young people from all around the country in the frame of regional youth forums and National Youth forum as well as round tables and workshops. The aim of the strategy is to provide young people with equal opportunities and adequate conditions, in order to allow them to develop knowledge, competences for participating in all life aspects through social inclusion, full access to information and qualitative educational, health and free time services.

The objectives of the Strategy are the following:

1. To facilitate free and full access of young people to education, training and information
2. To develop health and social services for youth
3. To provide young people with entrepreneurial skill and opportunities
4. To enhance the participation of youth to public life and promotion of active citizenship
5. To foster the institutional capacities in youth field.

The importance of non formal education in today’s educational system has considerably grown, which - through diverse activities meant to inform and form correct habits and behaviours as personal development, social self protection, formation of the habit to earn their living - would prevent problems (or at least a part of them) young people are faced with.

A well functioning system of non formal education in the Republic of Moldova would contribute to the fulfilment of the following necessities:

For children and young people:

- to benefit of friendly spaces and services, of offered opportunities, to search them and to contribute to their broadening
- to understand the need for permanent development, protection, involvement, health
- to benefit from services provided by friendly, competent and open specialists, who lend credibility, are communicable, attentive, treat children/young people with respect, offer information and support to every child/young person to make them able to take a free and right decision depending on necessities.
- to plan and perform the process of personal, vocational, social and health development
- to be able to integrate socially and create own future in a manner chosen by themselves;
In 2007 the extra-curricular reform has started, taking into account the realities and youth interests, therefore making it accessible for all interested children and young people. An intersectorial working group was set up to develop the concept paper for updating the non-formal education. In 2008, according to the Action Plan dedicated to the Youth Year, it foresaw the development and approval of the Strategy for modernization of the non-formal education (based on the existing concept) and the Action Plan that would include all line ministries and the civil society.

The strategy on updating the non formal education represents a strategic document, which should focus on all actors involved as this type of education is not only important, but absolutely necessary for the young people in Moldova.

A basic problem for youth today is organizing and spending leisure time. When they try to organize their free time in a creative manner, youth cope with various difficulties. Public institutions in town and villages do not provide possibilities for active and creative leisure. Even if sports and other creative activities are popular among youth, destruction of cultural and sports infrastructure has directly affected their performance possibilities. Or, lacking leisure time activities determines youth to go to bigger towns or to the capital. Youth need a lot of high quality information, to be able to decide on priorities and understand the risks and the way them may be avoided through an adequate behaviour.

2. Statistics on young people

Youth in the Republic of Moldova represent 26% of the population.¹ According to the legislation of the Republic of Moldova, youth represents persons in the age group 16-30, but the official statistics of the Republic of Moldova define young population as persons ageing 15-29².

During the year 2007 the overall number of young population was 977,1 thousands persons, 51,6 thousands more than in 2000.³ Although the overall number of population decreases, the segment of young population is stable. Youth gender structure overall is – 49% young women and 51% young men, while overall situation in the country is opposite.

² In the Republic of Moldova there is no official data for the age category 16-30 years, therefore in National Youth Strategy will operate with the segment of population aging 15 -29 years. Meanwhile, people the policy focuses on in Moldova are also considered aging 15-29 years.

3.2 Youth welfare services

1. Youth Resource Centres www.youth.md

   During 2005-2007 the Ministry of Education and Youth with UNICEF support focused to expand the network of youth friendly centres. These proved to be successful models of services delivery that respond to youth needs and interests. Currently there are 85 regional and community centres.

   During 2007, 41 projects were co-financed, including 26 youth community centres. Having as a purpose to ensure the sustainability of these successful models, the MEY approved several important documents for the Youth Resource Centres and Local Youth Councils activity.
   - Youth Resource centres activity regulations;
   - Local Youth Councils activity regulations;
   - Minimum quality standards for the youth resource centres.

   During 2005-2006, 66614 people (35407 young people and 31207 adults) benefited from the services of the network of youth resource centres.

   The Ministry of Education and Youth in partnership with the National Youth Resource Centre has developed a unique system of Monitoring and Evaluation, data collecting and reporting. This system was offered to the Regional Youth Resource Centres. The system was developed aiming to facilitate the process of collecting the data from each YRC. The data collected from the field is structured by types of activity and is analyzed at the end of each month, and further on presented to the Ministry of Education and Youth, UNICEF and other stakeholders.

   A network of 33 young evaluators from 9 YRCs was set up. As a support for the youth evaluators network a guidebook on „Monitoring and evaluation of activities with youth participation“ was developed. The book contains qualitative and quantitative tools for participatory Monitoring and Evaluation.
2. Youth-Friendly Clinics
Access to quality health services constitutes a prerogative to improve youth health conditions. Therefore, during 2002 – 2006, 12 Youth-Friendly Clinics were open and located all over the country with the support of UNICEF Moldova, USAID, SDC in partnership with public medical-sanitation institutions and LPAs. The Clinics ensure access to health integrated services to youth based on real needs, through individual consultations, in couple or in groups, related to general health issues, reproductive, mental, information to prepare the young couples for family and social life, promotion of a healthy lifestyle. Therefore, such complex services, according to the friendly youth clinics, are not currently offered within the whole health system.
Starting with 1 January 2007 the Youth Friendly clinics act as sub-divisions of the Public medical-sanitation institutions in the framework, being financed by the National Health Insurance House

3.3 Non-public actors/structures & youth services
The non-governmental sector in the youth field in Republic of Moldova was developed and strengthened based on the provisions of Law no.837 of May 17, 1996 regarding NGOs and stipulations of chapter IV, art.18 of Youth Law nr. 279 of February 11, 1999. In present there are circa 300 Youth NGOs registered at the national level and 1, 5 thousand local organizations. These associative structures' activities are very complex, being of an informational and cultural character, promoting healthy lifestyle, organizing free time activities, sport activities, etc.

Pursuant to the Law on Education in the Republic of Moldova (Article 34), the extra-school education shall include activities complementary to the educational process in all types of school. These activities are delivered by specialized institutions for the development of creative skills in children in the area of science, techniques, arts, sports, tourism, etc., as well as for useful and pleasant organization of leisure time. Within this structure there operate: 45 creation centres (31 thousand children), 10 technical creation centres with 6.5 thousand children, 7 centres of young naturalists, 4 centres of young tourists, 112 music and arts schools, 85 sports schools for children and adolescents.

- Creation centres – according to the statistics of the National Bureau of Statistics for 2007 in Moldova there are 75 single and broad range profiled creation centres (Creation Centres – 46, Technical Creation Centres – 10, Centres of young naturalists – 6, Centres of Young Tourists – 5);

• Youth Resource Centres (Regional and Local), Local Youth Councils, Youth Friendly Clinics, Republican Centre for Children and Youth (information on each type of institution see below).

In order to develop and extend the extracurricular and non-formal activities in 2008, declared Youth Year in Republic of Moldova, has been opened the Republican Centre for children and youth, that represents a educational- methodical institution, which mission is to contribute to the development and implementation of state policy in the education field of children and youth and offering of the logistical and methodological support to the institutions and social actors in charge with extracurricular and non-formal services.

Involvement is an index of personality development and of civic attitude, and for the formation of civic attitude there is a need for space for practice. The process of involvement allows children and young people to acquire skills in communication, mutual listening, expression, critical thinking, orientation in the informational space, action planning, result prognosis, realization of personal projects and taking responsibility for decision taking.

4. Legislation

According to the National Youth Strategy, youth policies represent “a system of measures aiming to provide social, economic, political, legal and organizational conditions and guarantees for social formation of a multiple development of a personality”. Therefore, youth policies are based on a legal and normative basis adjusted to European principles, for Moldova, as a result, to have a generation of active youth, employed and having a decent living, that would allow them create a healthy family and realize their economic, social and cultural needs.

At present youth policies in the Republic of Moldova is based on several core documents. The first one is the Law on youth (Nr. 279, from 11.02.1999), that determines youth policy; the second is the Revised Charter on the Participation of Young People in Local and Regional Life, adopted by the Congress of Local and Regional Authorities of the Council of Europe (May 2003) that presents international support for the law and the Youth National Strategy, which is complementary to the law and sets state priorities for the period of 2004-2009.

Besides legal and theoretic support brought by youth policies they have to and are implemented through several youth friendly institutions, structures and services:

- School/High school
- Family
- Municipality
- Room(ground) for sports
- Entertainment/leisure group
- Civic centre club
- Youth Resource Centres
- Youth Friendly Health Services
- Local Youth Councils
- Youth Media Centres
- Children and Youth Community Centres
- Mass media
- Library

There is a set of law and normative documents that at present regulate the rights of youth and youth policies, among them may be mentioned:

1. Youth Law

Conjugation of governmental and non-governmental efforts and consistent promotion of new values in youth field resulted in February, 1999 in the approval of Youth Law no. 279-XIV. The subjects of the present Law are young people, citizens of the Republic of Moldova aged between 16 and 30, also foreign young people residents of Moldova, young families and youth NGOs.

Basic principles, determined by Youth Law are:

Country Sheet on Youth Policy – Moldova
- respect and promotion of Human Rights
- participation of young people in development, promotion and carrying out of politics and programs oriented towards the development of all aspects of young people life;
- free access of each youth to social services;
- creation of adequate condition for harmonious development and full affirmation of young people.

The Law stipulates basic conditions of social and economic context which contribute to the development of youth field, such as: social protection for young people, job opportunities, right to study and participate in public life, physical development, etc.

The Law identifies institutions in charge of youth issues that will promote youth policies (art. 13-16) – youth social services, youth resource centres, National Youth Research Centres created by the Government. The Law also sets forth the obligations and rights of public authorities in charge of youth activity.

2. National Youth Strategy

National Youth Strategy foresees the development of youth capacities to understand and make use of their rights, to adopt an institutional frame responsible for improving participation of young people in all social processes, as well as to create a favourable environment for the development and affirmation of young people. The Youth Strategy is elaborated and approved by the Parliament every 4 years.

The Strategy establishes the following priorities for youth sector:
1. Access of young people to information and services
2. Increased participation of young people to public life and active citizenship
3. Opportunities for young people employment
4. Development of human and institutional capacities in youth field.

Each priority has objectives and indicators established in order to measure the achievements. In a view of assuring the implementation of Strategies provisions the Government approved an Action Plan foreseen for a 3-years period, which stipulates basic activities in the development of youth policy:
1. Updating the Legislative framework;
2. Promoting the access of young people to services and information;
3. Participation of youth in the decision making process;
4. Increasing employment opportunities;
5. Development of human and institutional resources in the youth field;
6. Developing international partnerships;
7. Adjustment of youth national policy to European dimensions
According to the National Youth Action Plan for Youth Year, the National Youth Strategy for 2009-2013 has been approved by December 2008.

3. Local Youth Strategies

In all districts (raions) of the Republic of Moldova there are cross-sectorial working groups composed of experts from different fields related to youth sector. In November 2006 Youth Forums organized in 2 stages took place in all raions, being attended by young people, mayors, economic agents and representatives of civil society. Over 6000 young people and over 500 representatives of local public administration participated in the development of local youth strategies and action plans.

The process of Youth Forums and Youth Strategies at local level resulted in the organization of the National Youth Forum “Youth participate – Community develops” on November 8-10, 2006 in Chisinau with the participation of circa 1300 young people from all raions and communities of the country, as well as representatives of central and local public authorities.

The Forum ended with the adoption of the final Resolution, which among other issues, sets as its main priorities the enhancement of youth employment opportunities and reform of the extra-curricular education system. An important exercise of involving young people into the decision making process was public consultations with young people on the National Development Plan for 2008-2011.

In July 2007 the Ministry of Education and Youth (MEY) in partnership with UNICEF Moldova organized 10 public consultations with young people, including 3 Regional Consultations in Cahul (southern part), Soroca (northern part) and Chisinau (centre) (this action involved over 300 young people of different categories from all over the country), and 7 consultations with main national networks and youth organizations (around 400 young people and 45 youth organizations). The majority of these proposals were later included in the final draft of the National Development Plan/Strategy for 2008-2011. These provisions/measures basically reflect the main priorities for youth sector development in the respective period.

Other normative documents in youth field are:

- Regarding the medical examination for youth before marriage, Ministry of Health and Ministry of Justice, Regulation No. 0609, as of 06.09.1995

The program presents an integrated plurisectorial plan and was developed as a result of a consultation based on consensus between main participants in this area, including the government, international organizations, non-governmental organizations and persons with HIV and was approved through the Governmental Decision of September 2005. The need of implementing an HIV/AIDS prevention and control policy is dictated by statistics referring to incidence of cause amongst youth aging 15–24, this representing a key age category in HIV statistic reports, compared to the total number of newly revealed cases of HIV along several years (representing one quarter of them).

7.2 European Union programmes

Youth in action

The period of Programme implementation of Youth will unfold in the period 2007-2013. The Programme is supported and promoted by Ministry of Education and Youth, National Youth Council, Salto-Youth Centre in Moldova and by network of multipliers.

Generally the multipliers work in several directions:

- organising informational and promotional meetings in the EECA Regions about the possibilities of international cooperation within Youth in Action Programme along with SALTO EECA Resources and Tools, especially with the young people, youth workers, youth organisations' representatives, trainers and local youth policy makers;
- supporting the knowledge about YiA Programme, contact making between organisations from Programme and EECA countries as well as sharing good practices by answering enquiry e-mails, phone calls and doing direct meetings with the youth groups and local youth institutions;
- promoting individual multiplier (and multiplier's organisation) activities as well as other activities in the frames of YiA Programme in the Region through SALTO EECA bimonthly Newsletter, SALTO EECA Forum and SALTO EECA "Youth in 7" Magazine;

As the practice shows, above general fields of work are followed by deeper approach and subsequent activities:

- local networking (between youth organisations, institutions and local authorities) in order to build the multiplier's organisation potential, to strengthen the impact of multiplying activities and possibilities for international co-operation;
coaching and counselling possible applicants with their projects within YiA Programme;
informing about other resources, possibilities for international co-operation (for instance Council of Europe - European Youth Foundation etc.);

With the support of SALTO EECA, local authorities and governments some Multipliers also do:

- publishing materials about the youth work and YiA Programme in the national language;
- creating local youth information centres;

Most of above-mentioned activities are somehow natural in the work of any ambitious organisation and youth worker. Anyway co-operation with SALTO EECA in the frames of Multipliers Network gives a strong added value in the work of both sides.

The major priority for us is: to adjust Moldavian youth policy to European standards throw youth participation at national and local level. For this reasons all the projects in youth field are in line with the National Youth Strategy, National Action Plan and Action Plan for the implementation of the Agenda 2020. Effective policies in the field of youth would be an advantage for the entire society. It will contribute to existing social problems solving, like: worsening health conditions and continued risky behaviour within certain large social groups; brain drain, illegal migration and human trafficking; human rights etc.

An important task in the youth field is the development of a working group of youth researchers for research of important topics on youth life.

The Partial Agreement on the Youth Card and the membership in ERYICA are under the agenda of the Ministry of Education and Youth
